

Curriculum Vitae

Serge Assier

Been born July 1st, 1946 in the Luberon, to Oppède the Old (Vaucluse) France

Self-educated photographer Lives and works in Marseille (France).

Jean Roque Award 2000: Academy of Sciences, Letters and Arts of Marseilles, 28 November 2000. Protactor Georges Bergoin.

Entry in the Who's Who in France 2003-2004 – 50th anniversary of Who's Who in France, and in the edition 2004-2005 with my portrait

Shepherd at 14 years, to postponed photographer for the Gamma agency at 28 years, then for The Provencal (become The Provence), VSD and several other Medias. Reprocessed today of the newspaper The Provence in Marseille.

My photographic work constructs him through the world with novelists, essayists, poets who entered in my universe while accepting to write some handwritten texts to come with my pictures. So Jean Andreu, Fernando Arrabal, Cyril Anton, Michel Butor, Marie-Christine Bretzner, René Char, Edmonde Charles-Roux, Renato Cristin, Bruna Donatelli, Georges Fréris, Marie Frisson, Lucien Giraud, Adèle Godefroy, Vicki Goldberg, Philippe Jaccottet, Zhu Jing, Jean Kéhayen, Laurence Kučera, Philippe Larue, Eliahu Lemberger, Ivan Levi, Jean-Marie Magnan, Louis Mesplé, Bernard Noël, Alain Paire, Robert Pujade, Jean Roudaut, Jean-Maurice Rouquette, Dominique Sampiero, Tereza Siza, Christian Skimao, Abigail Suncín and Jean Charles Tacchella. Our exchanges of correspondences enter in resonance with my photographs.

I created about thirty photographic and literary exhibitions, participated in numerous collective exhibitions, collaborated to several literary releases, held of multiple conferences through the world, published a large number of photographic works. Some of my oeuvres have been integrated in the public and private collection fund, notably the National Library of France and the International Center Photography.

During 20 years, I also photographed show business and the Festival of Cannes. However, it is while working on the thematic social and societal that I feel best.

My ambition? To let the trace of my look, like an infinite field of human expression. A course that led me from Antwerp to Barcelona of Rabat in Berlin, of Corsica to Tunis, of Rome in Salonika, or of Porto in Peking, while passing by the region of Lorraine and Marseille, my city. A work in depth on the sensitivity, the emotion and the human being rigor, a symphony of blacks, of white and of gray, like a visual poetics that would renew with the oldest sense of the theory word. My look stayed late again on the dream and the imaginary translated in photographic poems, revealing nudities of which alone goddesses know again how to decorate itself... And this broken up dream sends back me, in a big impetus of liberty, to the world or origins, to sources lusterless of poetry, like oeuvres of René Magritte and Paul Delvaux.

I had the luck to also work with the academic, of the journalists critical of photographic art and enthusiasts of pictures. I have been come with by the friendship that testified me my friends' photographers, Lucien Clergue, David Douglas Duncan, Robert Doisneau, Jacques-Henri Lartigue and André Villers Of friends without which I would not be there today.

Serge Assier, photographer.
